The Perfect Pot of Tea

Begin with fresh, cold water. Use a ceramic teapot - it retains heat and flavor best. Warm the teapot first by pouring hot water into the pot and let it stand for a couple of minutes. Measure one heaping teaspoon of tea per cup, plus one for the pot. If using tea bags, count on one bag for each tea cup (about 6 ounces). Do not let the water over-boil.

Remove the tea kettle when it has reached the just-boiling point and pour the water immediately into the teapot. Cover the pot with the lid and brew tea for three to five minutes before pouring. The larger the tea leaves, the longer the brewing time. Brew by the time, not the color, and no more than five minutes. To keep tea from getting stronger, remove the tea leaves or bags. Use a strainer or tea ball and pour into another warmed pot.

A tea cozy will help keep the tea warm. Stir the tea before pouring. If taking milk, add it to the cup first. Cold, whole milk is preferable over cream. Never add milk to green or oolong teas. Add sweeteners if desired, and then lemon. Enjoy!
